

As a valued Chamber partner and proactive business leader, we know that you are focused on community betterment.

You are invited to an investor only breakfast where we start conversations about how we can attract and retain a skilled workforce. As strategies are being executed to recruit business and industry to Indianola, we need to ensure we have the workforce to meet employer needs.

Scott Raecker, Executive Director of the Robert D. and Billie Ray Center, will present the results of the Indianola Human Capital Survey. This data will supply the group with information as we address this growing concern.
